Addressing the closing session of the Summit following the adoption of the landmark Pact for the Future (<https://www.un.org/en/summit-of-the-future/pact-for-the-future>) on Sunday, Philémon Yang, President of the 79th session of the General Assembly, expressed hope that the ideas exchanged would inspire further initiatives at national, regional and the global levels.

“As we close the Summit of the Future, I urge all Member States to continue to push for decisive action and to create meaningful progress,” he said.

He reminded delegates not to lose sight of ongoing global challenges like poverty, hunger, and the suffering of those caught in conflicts, violence, and deprivation.

What is the Summit of the Future?

The Summit of the Future is a high-level event held at United Nations headquarters in New York, 22-23 September 2024. The Summit focused on forging a new international consensus on delivering a better present and safeguarding the future.

Effective global cooperation is increasingly critical to our survival but difficult to achieve in an atmosphere of mistrust, using outdated structures that no longer reflect today's political and economic realities. This once-in-a-generation opportunity aimed to mend eroded trust and demonstrate that international cooperation can effectively achieve agreed goals and tackle emerging threats and opportunities.

At the Summit of the Future on 22 September, world leaders adopted the Pact for the Future (<https://www.un.org/en/summit-of-the-future/pact-for-the-future>) and its annexes the Global Digital Compact (<https://www.un.org/en/summit-of-the-future/global-digital-compact>) and Declaration on Future Generations (<https://www.un.org/en/summit-of-the-future/declaration-on-future-generations>).
